FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dominican Family and Friends,

Since 1956, Dominican High School has been an incredible place where students are not only educated, but nurtured and guided to become who they are truly called to be. Our promise to each family is simple, yet profound: at Dominican, we will know your student by name, by need, and by gift. This personal approach is at the heart of our mission, and it's what sets us apart.

As we celebrate 69 years of forming young people into leaders rooted in both faith and intellect, I find myself filled with deep gratitude for the enduring mission that has carried us through almost seven decades, and the inspiring community that continues to bring it to life today.

Our cover story in this issue explores the vital role of Catholic education in shaping the hearts and minds of tomorrow's leaders. In a world that often rushes past meaning, Dominican pauses for purpose, inviting students into a life of deeper reflection, compassion, and truth. This mission is beautifully captured in our new tagline: "Called to Lead." More than just words, this phrase reflects our legacy and our future; it is a declaration of who we are and what we empower our students to become.

Looking ahead, we are excited to launch our updated strategic plan, a bold and thoughtful vision for the years to come. This plan reaffirms our commitment to academic excellence while expanding the ways we infuse Dominican faith traditions into every aspect of student life; inside the classroom, within service and leadership, through prayer and community, and in the spirit of joyful discovery that defines our halls. It is a roadmap that honors our past and points us toward a future filled with purpose and promise.

Of course, none of this would be possible without the extraordinary generosity of our alumni, parents, and friends. Your support is the foundation upon which every success is built. You make possible the transformative education, the personal attention, the sacred traditions, and the opportunities that define a Dominican experience. Whether you give your time, your treasure, or your prayers, thank you. You are a vital part of the legacy we celebrate and the mission we advance.

As you turn the pages of this magazine, I invite you to reflect with pride on all that we've accomplished, and to look forward with hope to all that lies ahead. Together, as one Dominican community, we continue to answer the call to lead.

God Bless and Go Knights!

CLASS-WIDE SERVICE

Dominican freshman and sophomore students, joined by parent and staff chaperones, visited multiple organizations throughout the greater Milwaukee area and assisted with various service projects. On average, 5,500 community service hours are completed by each class per year.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK MEGA MASS

Dominican hosted the 6th Annual North Shore Catholic Schools Week Mass with Most Reverend Archbishop Grob as our celebrant! Students, faculty, staff, and guests of Holy Family, St. Eugene, St. Monica, and St. Robert, totaling over 1,300, joined us for the Memorial of Dominican Saint, Thomas Aquinas.

LENTEN FOOD DRIVE

Freshman student, Maggie Johnson, started her own Lenten Food Drive at the age of six and has continued her almsgiving every year since. For Maggie's 8th Annual Lenten Food Drive this year, we invited the Dominican community to support her efforts by donating food items to her collection box. This year, she collected over 3,000 pounds of food which was donated to Family Sharing food pantry in Grafton.

MULTICULTURAL CELEBRATION DAY

From traditional dress to delicious food, music and dance — Multicultural Celebration Day was a vibrant day of pride for our students. Our Knights attended a variety of workshops on campus that highlighted a variety of cultures around the globe!

TRUNK-OR-TREAT

Our Knights had a terrific time celebrating Trunk-or-Treat together on campus! Students from multiple different clubs and groups at Dominican decorated their cars, handed out candy to their classmates, and enjoyed the fabulous new school tradition.

ANNUAL TALENT SHOW

Dominican's Annual Talent Show displayed a variety of talents from our gifted Knights! Thank you to our students who shared their incredible gifts with us.

DINNER WITH FR. TONNY

Dominican's School Chaplain, Fr. Tony Kizza, welcomed a party of eight guests to St. Monica's Rectory for a traditional Ugandan meal, a new item from the Dominican auction! Thank you to Fr. Tony for sharing cuisine, culture, and his own past-times with our Dominican community!

SINSINAWA CORE VALUE AWARDS

The Sinsinawa Core Value Awards recognize students who symbolize the culture and excellence at Dominican. Congratulations to the Class of 2025 recipients (from top left):

MATTHEW 25 AWARD

The Matthew 25 award is given to one graduate each year who embodies each of our Sinsinawa Core Values, and simply put, lives the Gospel. Congratulations to Cecilia Parlier, this year's Matthew 25 Award recipient!

THE REAL

RO

EDUCATION

When Dominican High School opened its doors in 1956, America was a very different place. Gas was 22 cents a gallon, the average price of a home was $14,500, and Dominican's tuition was just a few hundred dollars a year. Families choosing Dominican knew they were making an investment—one not just in education, but in faith, character, and the future of their children. Nearly seven decades later, the cost of that investment has increased to $15,750 per year, but so has the return.

Dominican's tuition reflects more than numbers. It represents decades of growth in academic offerings, faculty development, extracurricular excellence, and a renewed commitment to forming young people in faith and leadership. While the sticker price has risen with the cost of living, the true return on investment—a graduate formed in values, virtue, and vision—is more powerful and more necessary than ever.

In 1956, the idea of paying over $15,000 annually for high school might have seemed unthinkable. Today, families spend that amount on childcare or summer camps. And while inflation explains much of the increase, Dominican's value proposition has grown far beyond its humble beginnings. Transitioning into the 1980s, a pivotal moment in Dominican's history hit. As the number of Sinsinawa Dominican Sisters diminished, the school made a critical decision—to pay its lay teachers and remaining Sisters equally and competitively. This change acknowledged the professionalism and dedication of every staff member, but it also increased operational costs. Unlike public schools funded through taxes, Dominican relies heavily on tuition and philanthropic support. As competition with public and charter schools intensified, Dominican leaned even more heavily into what has always set it apart: its mission to form the whole person.

In today's world, where moral relativism and cultural confusion often dominate headlines, Dominican remains rooted in something eternal. From day one, the school has been more than a place of academics. It has been a place of formation—where virtue is taught not just in religion classes, but through the everyday lives of students, faculty, and staff. This is the kind of formation that cannot be replicated in public institutions. As society has grown more secular, Dominican has remained steadfast in its commitment to forming young people with a deep moral compass. Here, students learn what it means to serve others, to seek truth, and to lead lives grounded in purpose.

Jim Michaletz, a current Dominican parent, reflects on the value of this foundation. "Dominican impressed our family with its holistic approach to forming the mind, body, and soul. My son, Xavier '26, has had a significant school experience, impacting his interest in the seminary and vocation to the Catholic church."

Dominican's academic program is not designed for the faint of heart. Students are expected to push themselves, manage their time, and develop resilience. But the results speak volumes. Dominican doesn't just prepare students for college—it prepares them to lead lives of meaning and direction. With an average ACT score well above the state and national average, Dominican students thrive in top-tier universities across the country. But more than test scores and transcripts, they take with them the discipline and drive forged during their high school years.

A prime example of this is Cecilia Parlier, a recent graduate and Co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2025, who earned a National Merit Scholarship and will attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) this fall. "As a student, having the ability to take difficult classes in all subject areas, learn from dedicated, extremely qualified instructors, and seek out additional educational opportunities through activities such as robotics, stage crew, and other programs has helped me along the path to achieving my dreams of attending an elite university. The individualized academic support offered at Dominican paired with the rigor available to all students has prepared me for success in a way that nothing else could." Dominican alumni consistently testify that their college courses felt less daunting than some of their toughest high school classes. That is not just preparation; it's empowerment.

More than a school, Dominican is a launching pad. It forms not only scholars, but servant leaders. The tradition of faith, character, and service built into every corner of Dominican’s culture ensures that students don’t just graduate—they transform.

This transformation doesn’t end at commencement. It ripples outward into families, workplaces, parishes, and communities. Nate Friday, Class of 2009, reflects on his journey from student to Campus Minister. “For the first two years I attended Dominican I was not interested in a relationship with God. However, members of the community saw a faith in me and the fire of the Holy Spirit within me that I didn’t even see myself. I am so thankful I now have the opportunity to help students find their path to Christ.”

Stories like Nate’s highlight how Dominican doesn’t just educate—it forms. And formation is the type of return on investment that transcends money. The virtues learned within Dominican’s walls—compassion, leadership, integrity, and service—form the foundation of lives that influence the world.

Of course, $15,750 is no small sum. But families know that investing in Dominican is an investment in something eternal. It’s the kind of value that doesn’t depreciate—it multiplies. Students may only be enrolled at Dominican for four years, but the impact of those years lasts for a lifetime. Graduates become doctors, teachers, artists, engineers, ministers, and entrepreneurs. More importantly, they become men and women of faith and virtue, called to lead in ways the world desperately needs.

Even the cost itself becomes a teaching tool. Dominican’s work-study programs allow students to contribute to the cost of their tuition, instilling a sense of ownership and responsibility. That model of shared sacrifice helps students and families alike see the cost of education not as a bill—but as a bond.

Dominican families are not just purchasing a product—they are participating in a mission. A mission that forms young people into future leaders with integrity, compassion, and purpose. In a world that increasingly asks, What can I get? Dominican continues to ask,

Who are you called to be? That question underpins every lesson, every retreat, every game, every Mass, and every moment of student life. Yes, times have changed. The economy has shifted. Public education options have evolved. But the need for schools that educate the whole person—mind, body, and spirit—has never been greater.

Dominican High School’s return on investment isn’t measured in stock portfolios or income brackets. It’s measured in lives transformed, vocations discovered, and generations shaped. It’s measured in faith rekindled and dreams made real. When families choose Dominican, they are choosing more than excellence—they are choosing eternal impact. And in that sense, the real ROI is not only worth every penny, it’s priceless.

A MESSAGE FROM MR. MURRAY THE FUTURE OF AI WITHIN DOMINICAN

At Dominican, we embrace the thoughtful use of artificial intelligence as one of many tools to support teaching and learning. Our teachers use AI to enhance lesson planning, spark creativity, and improve productivity—helping to design engaging, interactive classroom experiences. We’ve hosted guest speakers to guide our faculty on responsible AI integration, and our administration continues to explore ways AI can support critical thinking and student growth. Just as importantly, we emphasize that AI is a tool—not a replacement—for the essential relationships, insight, and expertise that define great teaching.

Looking ahead, we are committed to deepening our understanding of AI’s role in education. We are actively exploring professional development opportunities, collaborating with educational leaders, and piloting classroom strategies that help students use AI ethically and effectively. As this technology evolves, so will our approach—ensuring that our use of AI remains grounded in our mission and focused on student success.

WHERE THEY ARE NOW

Following previous student scholarship speakers from the Annual Dominican Auction

Giving back to the upcoming generation of students and playing a part in their growth and development has been very fulfilling for me.

BRANDON QUIN ‘13

If you’ve ever attended a Dominican Auction, you’ve likely heard one of our scholarship students share how Dominican transformed their life. In 2013, Brandon Quin took the stage as our auction scholarship speaker, reflecting on how Dominican taught him the value of time management and the importance of a strong support system. After graduating, Brandon went on to attend St. Mary’s University of Minnesota, where he earned a Bachelor’s degree in Sports Management.

“After I graduated, I reflected on my time at Dominican and realized what a huge support system my teachers were at the time,” said Brandon. “Receiving scholarship support was instrumental in helping me graduate from Dominican and pursue a college education. Without it, I wouldn’t have been able to attend Dominican.”

Now, 12 years later, Brandon is back in the area and working as an Operations Manager at Hultafors Group, a large manufacturer of safety wear. He’s also back at his alma mater as the head coach for the boys’ soccer team and the goalkeeper coach for the girls’ soccer team.

“One passion I recently discovered is coaching. Giving back to the upcoming generation of students and playing a part in their growth and development has been very fulfilling for me. Being around the kids every day with their optimistic outlook and limitless energy has been very refreshing and motivating.”

Stories like Brandon’s bring our mission at Dominican full circle, reminding us just how meaningful and life-changing this high school experience can be for our students.

PHIL JONES ‘20

Since graduating from Dominican in 2020, Phil has continued to embody the values and leadership that made him a standout scholarship speaker during his time here. After high school, he attended Marquette University, where he earned a degree in Corporate Communications with minors in Innovations & Entrepreneurship and Public Relations.

Phil was part of Marquette’s prestigious Urban Scholars Program—a full-tuition scholarship awarded to high-achieving students from Milwaukee. He describes the program as life-changing, not only because of the financial support but also because of the mentorship and academic guidance it provided.

Now, Phil works as an Admissions Counselor at Marquette University and received the Rising Star Award from the Wisconsin Association for College Admissions Counseling at the organization’s annual conference. The award honors college and high school professionals who exemplify excellence and dedication in their first five years in the admissions/counseling profession.

“My passion has always been to help as many people as possible,” he says. “I want to be a resource and a positive influence, especially for those from backgrounds like mine.”

Looking back, Phil credits Dominican for preparing him to navigate both academic and professional challenges. From balancing tough college exams to adjusting to diverse environments, he says the foundation built in the classroom and on the court taught him the importance of preparation and time management.

Dominican is proud of Phil’s continued impact and grateful to have been a part of his journey.

Dominican helped me become confident in any setting. I know how to show up, speak up, and build connections.

FACILITY UPDATES

Dominican has completed multiple facility updates throughout the 2024-2025 school year! Check out a few of our favorites.

DOMINICAN SAINTS AND SPIRIT ILLUMINATE ST. DOMINIC CHAPEL

A new mural in St. Dominic Chapel brings the Dominican mission vividly to life. St. Catherine of Siena and St. Dominic are depicted in motion — symbols of faith in action. At the center is the Dominican Cross, surrounded by the words “to praise, to bless, to preach” — the heart of Dominican life. Vibrant stained glass elements frame the mural, inspired by the iconic windows of Queen of the Rosary Chapel at Sinsinawa Mound. The mural is more than decoration; it’s a spiritual anchor. Each week, students gather here for Mass, and the mural deepens that experience — offering beauty, meaning, and a visual reminder of their call to lead with truth and compassion. It connects tradition with today’s students, creating a sacred space that forms both mind and heart.

CONCESSIONS

Dominican has a brand new Concessions Stand out on Palermo’s Field! The new addition also includes attached restrooms which are open during scheduled games on the field. Funding provided by Mike Heyer ‘63.

FLAG POLE

Our new flagpole stands tall on Palermo’s Field, also featuring our school flag, a bold symbol of Knight pride that soars with every game. Funding provided by Dean ‘92 & Sheila Koch.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION: THIRD FLOOR PAINTING

Dominican’s hallways are beginning to get a make-over! This multiple-year project will include painting all floors a neutral color, painting lockers, and adding more splashes of color through murals. Funding provided by brothers Andy ‘80 and Bill ‘83 Kadrich.

AARON WOMACK III '25 ALL-TIME LEADING SCORER

During a game in Crowley Gymnasium on February 28th, Aaron eclipsed the previous all-time leading Dominican High School scoring mark of 2,193 points, set by Diamond Stone. He would eventually finish with 2,240 points as a Knight, and currently sits at #32 on the all-time scoring list in state history. That prestigious scoring list represents all Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association (WIAA) scoring statistics in the state of Wisconsin since 1953! Twice-voted the Wisconsin High School "Athlete of the Week" the past two seasons, Womack was also nominated for the State of Wisconsin "Player of the Year" Award in 2025. Averaging over 30 points per game during his Senior season, Womack was named First Team All-Conference by Metro Classic Conference coaches, selected to the conference "All-Defensive" Team, and honored as the Conference "Defensive Player of the Year." He was an integral part of a varsity program that won 40 games the past two school years. The college-bound Womack will take his game to Syracuse University this fall. Congratulations, Aaron, on making school history and creating an unsurpassed legacy here at Dominican!

TYLER FELDRUEGGE '25 ALL-TIME STRIKEOUT LEADER

Feared by batters for his fastball and off-speed pitches, Tyler now holds the record for all-time strikeouts for a Dominican pitcher. In fact, during the team's WIAA Regional baseball playoff win, Tyler notched his 300th career strikeout, a prestigious mark. His extraordinary achievements have been noted and celebrated. He was named First Team All-Conference by Metro Classic Conference coaches, and in May, Tyler became the first athlete in school history to be selected for the State All-Star Game, where he will be one of only 72 high school players in the State of Wisconsin to be honored. Tyler was also the recipient of the Mark Kasprzak Award, a 40-year tradition at Dominican High School honoring one Senior student-athlete who exhibits behaviors, values, and ideals based on their faith in God. Congratulations, Tyler, on making school history and creating an unsurpassed legacy here at Dominican!

OLYMPIAN AWARDS

During the 2024-2025 school year, over 75% of Dominican High School students competed in at least one sport. To celebrate and honor the extraordinary commitment and contributions of our Senior student-athletes, we proudly present the "Dominican Olympian Award." This award is given to any senior athlete who has participated on 8 or more athletic teams during their four years here at Dominican.

- * The bronze medal is awarded for 8 total seasons of participation.
- * The silver medal is awarded for 10 total seasons of participation.
- * The gold medal is awarded for 12 or more total seasons of participation.

Congratulations to our Olympian Award winners and thank you for all your impressive athletic contributions!

2026 ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME NOMINATIONS

Dominican High School's Athletic Hall of Fame was established to celebrate individuals who have made a lasting impact on our athletic programs. Over the past 28 years, more than 70 alumni, coaches, and friends of Dominican have been inducted in honor of their outstanding athletic contributions. Athletes and coaches must meet specific qualifications in one of three categories. For more information on these qualifications, please scan the QR code. In August 2026, we will welcome a new class of inductees. To submit a nomination, please scan the QR code or email our Athletic Director at tmlada@dominicanhighschool.com. Entries must be submitted by September 30, 2025.

KNIGHTS IN ACTION

1. MADDIE PICKART '26

During a volleyball game in Crowley Gymnasium the night of October 8th, Junior Maddie Pickart surpassed the illustrious 1,000 recorded assists mark during her athletic career at Dominican High School! That personal record is an impressive accomplishment, both as an indication of the important role she has played on the Knights volleyball team and her selfless style of play. Entering her senior year, Maddie will be counted on to help lead our talented girls' volleyball team to new heights, and challenge for the Metro Classic Conference title!

2. BRANDON APPLEWHITE '26

Junior Brandon Applewhite recently finished his third season as a member of our boys' golf team in a special way, by qualifying to play in the WIAA sectional golf meet at The Bog in Saukville. To earn the trip, Brandon shot a season-best 88 in a tightly-contested regional match, besting his opponent by 1 stroke to grab the spot at the Sectional meet. From the start of the season to the finish, he demonstrated significant improvement. He and his teammates are poised for a big Spring season next school year!

3. BROOKLYN LOVE '26

During a basketball game in Crowley Gymnasium on February 18th, Junior Brooklyn Love surpassed the impressive 1,000 point mark in her high school basketball career! True to form and her style of play, Brooklyn's big shot was a sweet floater in the lane over two towering defenders. Known for her explosiveness on offense and aggressiveness on defense, she was once again a major part of our Knights' successful season, helping lead the team to 18 wins and an exciting WIAA regional home playoff game victory! We're excited for what Brooklyn's upcoming season holds.

Dominican's First Lego League Team, led by students on the Robotics Team, competed in their second regionals competition in December! Dominican placed 10th out of 29 total teams for the functionality and design of their lego-built robot!

STUDENT

INVOLVEMENT

DOMINICAN FINE ARTS

RETREAT LEADERS

Since 2007, our juniors have attended Dominican's most impactful retreat, the Kairos Retreat. Led by seniors, this three-day/two-night retreat focuses on students developing a deeper relationship with their classmates, with their families, and with Christ. Kairos helps our students grow into the best versions of themselves and is a life-changing experience for many.

THAT'S A

The 2024-25 season was a celebration of Dominican High School Theatre past, present, and future. Our fall show, The Old Man and The Old Moon, introduced us to our new director who is also a Dominican alum, Matt Zembrowski '01. Matt brought a fresh perspective to our Theatre Department with this funny, quirky adventure. Dominican students brought the wacky energy and lovely voices and this little-known show quickly became a favorite.

In February we performed Godspell on a two-story theatrical playground. In a heartfelt nod to Dominican's rich history, we used repurposed set pieces, props, and costumes from almost 30 years of Dominican past productions, bridging the past and present of Dominican Theatre in a way no other show has done on this stage. Godspell's unique storytelling allowed many of our students a chance to shine. Dominican Theatre received 15 Jerry Award nominations for Godspell, including Outstanding Musical, Outstanding Ensemble, Outstanding Stage Crew, Outstanding Choreography, Outstanding Orchestra, and Outstanding Costume Design.

While still in the throes of our winter musical, two members of stage crew decided to create A Knight of One Acts for our spring show – three, 30-minute shows totally student led, acted, and directed. The tenacity of these students paid off, and A Knight of One Acts was a success! Forty students eagerly joined cast and crew learning the value of hard work and perseverance, and taking a deeper look into the many countless hours it takes to put on a show. We tell students that they can do anything they put their mind and heart into at Dominican, and this show embodied that sentiment.

Dominican Theatre Stage Crew students continue to wow our community. Stage Crew won first place at the Wisconsin Interscholastic Theatre Festival Tech Challenge – the second year in a row Dominican has taken home first place at State. Competitions include Knot Tying, Quick Change, Cable Roll Relay, and Hang & Focus. Several crew members also won individual awards including first place in Lights, second place in Prop Shift, and third place in Leg a Platform, Sew a Button, and Knot Tying.

Dominican High School Theatre had a successful 2024-25 season. 72 students were involved in productions this year, making lifelong memories both onstage and off. We had 17 seniors graduate, 12 of them have participated in theatre all four years at Dominican.

Bravo, Dominican Theatre, on a wonderful season!

VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR

Kate McDevitt '84 Meyer: A Model of Volunteer Dedication at Dominican High School

The Dominican High School community thrives thanks to dedicated individuals who go above and beyond. One such person is Kate McDevitt '84 Meyer, whose volunteer contributions span nearly every corner of school life. From leadership roles to hands-on service, Kate's commitment reflects her deep caring for the students, staff, and mission of Dominican.

Kate is serving her first of three years as a Dominican High School Board Member, continuing her long-standing support of the school. She has been a co-host for Auction Benefit Parties, a part of the most recent Capital Campaign, has helped strengthen foundation relationships for Dominican, and remains an active attendee at the annual auction, helping sustain Dominican's largest fundraising tradition.

Her involvement doesn't stop there—Kate opened doors for students through real-world learning opportunities by hosting a field trip at her business, Biz Times, this year and speaking at Dominican's Career Day. She's no stranger to going the extra mile—literally—having driven our French students in the Dominivan to O'Hare for their trip to France last summer.

Kate volunteered her time for Campus Ministry, supervising sophomore service projects—even without a sophomore of her own—volunteering every date needed! She chaperoned students on the Freshman Retreat and regularly attends parent prayer experiences at Dominican, offering spiritual support to the school community.

Kate contributed behind the scenes with the Fine Arts Booster club organizing meals during performances and practices when Margo '25 was in theatre, and lending her expertise to implement the Working Genius productivity model for Dominican administration.

Perhaps most impressively, Kate served as an assistant coach for Dominican's tennis team for four years, consistently mentoring students on and off the court.

Dominican is truly blessed to have such dedication from alumna and past parent, Kate. She exemplifies the spirit of service, and Dominican is stronger because of her unwavering loyalty.

A KNIGHT AT CAMP DOMINICAN

Thank you to our wonderful 2025 Auction Co-Chairs, past parent, Theresa Barry and alumna, Jenny McMahon-Varik '84, for hosting a glamping-inspired evening, raising over $350,000 for Dominican High School. The evening of April 12 was truly an evening of camp charm with a strong sense of camaraderie and purpose with over 250 guests, including 55+ alumni, 16 of which were young alumni, and another strong band of campers from the 1980s in attendance.

We hope you had a chance to visit our camp store staffed by our wonderful students this year which featured many fun items including spirit wear, local saplings and brand-new Dominican Yetis. If you weren't able to attend and would like a Yeti, they are now available in our school store. New this year we also featured camp care packages which highlighted talent within our

HAPPY CAMPERERS!

Dominican community including homemade items such as bread, salsa, cookies, pizza, and much more!

Throughout our camp session, we awarded many fabulous prizes to our campers. Our golden ticket went to board member and current parent, Joe Emmerich – he will receive $3,500 off tuition next year for Maria '26 and Laura '28. Other winners included Angela Foy during Loser's Bingo, Theresa Barry winning the Blackstone grill, and of course our Buck's courtside ticket raffle winners, Tim O'Connell '04 and current parent Greg Flattery.

Our most outstanding camper award, however, goes to our scholarship speaker Jaylen Massey '25 for courageously sharing his academic and mental health journey. On the verge of withdrawing, Jaylen confided in his counselors and mom that he was struggling with his mental health. Shortly after, Jaylen was diagnosed with Bipolar depression. He started therapy which helped him become successful not only academically, but personally.

Jaylen is just one story of incredible perseverance and transformation that takes place at Dominican, and one of the many reasons so many members of our community raise their paddles on auction night. This year, our Dominican community donated over $215,000 in scholarship funding to ensure our mission continues - one student, one story, at a time.

A heartfelt thank you to our incredible camp crew—our generous sponsors, fantastic vendors, and the many enthusiastic volunteers who brought energy, heart, and dedication to every detail, helping make Camp Dominican a true success. A special thank you to Mary Pesich '78 for the inspired decor for the evening. The camp vibes were high throughout the evening, but the Dominican pride is truly what makes Camp Dominican a place like no other.

Jaylen Massey, Student Scholarship Speaker

SOMEONE TO KNOW

Currently Lives: Scottsdale, Arizona and Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin

Current Job: Retired Education Director at Milwaukee Co. Juvenile Detention Center

Role Models: Mr. Trojanowski has always been a role model of mine. Both as a student and as an administrator I recognized he had a special talent for finding out each student's strength and making sure they became aware of that strength.

Favorite Dominican Memory: My best memory is Mr. Zepp's Religion class. It was about the challenge of our purpose on earth and real philosophical questions that allowed us to explore "meaning of life" kind of questions.

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: Dominican partnered with my family values in shaping the person I am today.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: Dominican graduates are some of the most well-prepared, well-developed and well-educated future leaders in the area. There is no better investment than in our future leaders.

Words of advice for current Dominican students: See yourself as a small piece of a large puzzle with a responsibility for making that picture more beautiful by not just making yourself the best you can be, but by doing what you can to help all the other pieces fit well together.

Currently Lives: Fox Point, Wisconsin and Breckenridge, Colorado

Current Job: Both retired

Role Models: We both consider our parents as our best role models.

Favorite Dominican Memory: A combination of so many things! The 1974 State Basketball Championship was so historic during our time at Dominican. Then the traditional memories of Homecoming, basketball and football games with our classmates, variety shows, Library Club, and of course, graduation.

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: For both of us, Dominican formed a moral compass to follow throughout our lives.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: We believe Dominican graduates do very well in life, and by supporting the school financially, more kids will have the access to a quality education.

Words of advice for current Dominican students: Take part in the activities Dominican has to offer. You will grow from experiences and keep in contact with your classmates. They will be your friends for life!

Currently Lives: Brookfield, Wisconsin

Current Job: Attorney/Shareholder at Habush, Habush & Rottier for 25 years

Role Models: My top two role models are definitely Michelle Obama and Mother Theresa.

Favorite Dominican Memory: Playing soccer! I played on Girls Varsity Soccer for 4 incredible years.

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: Dominican gave me a fantastic education which gave me the confidence to fulfill my dream of becoming a lawyer.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: The education and environment at Dominican are like none other. This is a place where everyone belongs and can succeed..

Words of advice for current Dominican students: Be yourself, work hard, do what you love and you will be successful in life.

ANDY KOWSKE

Currently Lives: New Berlin, Wisconsin

Current Job: I am a civil engineer, specifically Vice President, Wisconsin Office Growth Officer, at HNTB Corporation in Milwaukee. I've been at HNTB for 21 years!

Role Models: My basketball coaches growing up, they were all great influences on me and taught me how to be a man.

Favorite Dominican Memory: Winning the basketball state championship my senior year! During my freshman year, our team was 3-19, showing significant improvement every year leading up the State Championship.

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: Dominican shaped me into a person who is well-rounded and taught me the value of having kind and caring people in my life. Dominican's Catholic education also helped me find my faith and how to prosper through life staying close to Jesus Christ.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: Dominican High School brings Catholic education to a diverse group of students, bringing them together from different communities, a cornerstone of quality education in the Milwaukee area.

Words of advice for current Dominican students: Have faith- God loves you and will show you the way.

ANNALIESE
KOLLER-SCHUMATE

Currently Lives: Mequon, Wisconsin

Current Job: I am an Emergency and Crisis Psychiatrist for Milwaukee County- I've been there 12 years!

Role Models: My mom, Rose Koller who worked as an RN on the burn unit for over 44 years.

Favorite Dominican Memory: Performing Ragtime at the Pabst Theatre in Milwaukee!

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: Dominican helped to build a person who desires to be of service to her community and wants to give back. I get to do that in my work, in my church and as a parent.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: Dominican helps build strong people who make an impact on their communities wherever that ends up being. I support Dominican graduates and see them making huge impacts on their communities in so many varied regards.

Words of advice for current Dominican students: Find gratitude in each day and see what you can do to make a place or situation better.

JOSH EGEDE

Currently Lives: New York City

Current Job: I am currently a medical student at NYU Grossman School of Medicine in their accelerated 3-year curriculum. I am heading into my final year!

Role Models: My role models are my parents who are also physicians (mom is a psychiatrist and my dad is an internal medicine doctor). They have emulated the type of physician I hope to become one day.

Favorite Dominican Memory: Moving to Milwaukee from Charleston, South Carolina during my junior year of high school was a big adjustment for me. My years at Dominican quickly became some of my favorites with how welcoming the community was. Making friends and seeing those grow deep in such short time was so critical. I can't thank my classmates enough for making my experience so amazing.

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: Much of my work ethic and values grew during my time at Dominican, and I learned how to surround myself with a circle that would push me to be better each day.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: In my experience, Dominican is a special place where I was accepted and integrated into the community faster than I could have imagined. Dominican is a place where each person can find their voice and their community, and that continues to be very special to me.

Words of advice for current Dominican students: Take the time to be present, get to know those around you and develop a diverse skillset through trial and error.

BEN JELACIC

Currently Lives: Milwaukee

Current Job: I am a Dealer Acquisitions Specialist and the Founder of Move Mountains Clothing.

Favorite Words of Wisdom: Proverbs 13:20, "Walk with the wise and you become wise, but the companion of fools fares badly."

Favorite Part of Your Job: Through founding Move Mountains Clothing in 2023, being able to spread faith while working with collegiate and professional athletes around the country. It's been pretty amazing!

How did Dominican shape the person you are today: Dominican gave me connections that I still utilize today along with great teachers who pushed each student to see their full potential.

Why Dominican is worthy of support: Dominican gives people opportunities to do what they want and really follow their passions which helps them grow each and every day.

Words of advice for current Dominican students: Don't take the days and the people that you are surrounded by for granted and live each day to the fullest.
